Stratex International Plc

Stratex is proposing to change the name of the company to Oriole Resources PLC at its upcoming General Meeting on 4 September 2018. This reflects the company's refocusing of its activities on early stage exploration and joint venture partnerships in Africa and Europe and also a repositioning of the strategic direction of the company following the appointment of Tim Livesey and Bob Smeeton as CEO and CFO respectively earlier this year. The board is being further strengthened with the upcoming appointment of John McGloin as Non-Executive Chairman and David Pelham as Non-Executive Director effective from 3 September 2018.

Stratex is focused on the exploration and development of gold and base metals. The company is currently active in Senegal and Cameroon and has interests in companies operating in Turkey and across Africa. The company recently expanded its African asset base through the completion of an exciting option agreement to acquire up to 90% of two new projects; Bibemi and Wapouzé in Cameroon which have the potential to significantly augment Stratex's gold exploration asset portfolio.

Stratex has made significant efforts to reposition the company within the market over the last twelve months and the proposed rebranding along with the bolstering of the management team reflect the culmination of this strategy. As such, the company is convening a General Meeting (GM) at 10am on 4 September 2018 to seek shareholder approval for the change of the company name. Assuming shareholder approval, the name of the company will change to Oriole Resources PLC (Ticker: ORR) effective from 5 September 2018.

Immediately prior to the GM, the company will appoint Mr John McGloin as Non-Executive Chairman and Mr David Pelham as a Non-Executive Director to the company. These appointments will be effective from 3 September 2018.

John McGloin is a geologist and a graduate of Camborne School of Mines. He worked for many years in Africa within the mining industry before moving into consultancy. He joined Arbuthnot Banking Group following four years at Evolution Securities as its mining analyst and he is also the former Head of Mining at Collins Stewart. More recently, John has served as the Chairman and CEO of Amara Mining until 2016 and is currently a non-executive director to Caledonia Mining Corporation and to Perseus Mining.

David Pelham is a mineral geologist with over 35 years global exploration experience. He has overseen the discovery and early evaluation of multiple deposits, most notably including the +6 Moz Chirano Gold Mine in Ghana, as well as Hummingbird's 4.2 Moz Dugbe gold deposit in Liberia. He has been a non-executive director to AIM quoted Cora Gold Ltd since May 2017.

In June 2018, the company raised £1.15m before expenses to support its entry into Cameroon, augmenting existing cash of c.£1.3m with which to fund existing commitments. With a new joint broker, Turner Pope, appointed in June 2018 and the management team now strengthened, we are confident that the company's repositioned strategic direction will be approved by shareholders at the upcoming General Meeting next month.

The value of securities, particularly those of smaller companies, can fall as well as rise and may be subject to large and sudden swings. In addition, the level of marketability of smaller company securities may result in significant trading spreads and sometimes may lead to difficulties in opening and/or closing positions. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance and forecasts are not a reliable indicator of future results.

AIM is a market designed primarily for emerging or smaller companies and the rules of this market are less demanding than those of the Official List of the UK Listing Authority; consequently AIM investments may not be suitable for some investors. Liquidity may be lower and hence some investments may be harder to realise.
